

Jacob Park

Jacob Park is assistant professor of business and public policy at Green Mountain College in Vermont specializing in the teaching and research of global environment & business strategy, corporate social responsibility, business ethics, and community-based entrepreneurship & innovation with a special expertise/interest in Japan, China, and the Asia-Pacific region.

He is also an ethical research consultant with Green Cay Asset Management, a socially responsible hedge fund/financial investment company. From 1999-2004, he was a senior research consultant and a Japanese and Asian equity specialist in the Governance and Socially Responsibility Investment Group of ISIS Asset Management (now F&C Asset Management), a London-based investment company.

He has been a Visiting Scholar at the Free University of Berlin's Environmental Policy Center; a Fellow at the Fannie and Alan Leslie Humanities Center at Dartmouth College; Visiting Professor in the Corporate Environmental Governance Program at the University of Hong Kong's Center for Urban Planning and Environmental Management; a Research Scholar in the Harrison Program on the Future Global Agenda, University of Maryland; and a Research Fellow in the Department of Urban Engineering at the University of Tokyo.

A lead author in the Scenarios Working Group of the Millennium Ecosystem Assessment, he serves as a senior fellow of the Environmental Leadership Program and on the International Planning Board of the Greening of Industry Network; IUCN/World Conservation Union's Commission on Ecosystem Management; and the Steering Committee of the North American Green Purchasing Initiative.

An editorial/review board member of the Journal of Corporate Citizenship, Business Strategy and the Environment, Greener Management International, and Journal of Asia Entrepreneurship and Sustainability, his most recent book is the "Ecology of the New Economy: Sustainable Transformation of Global Information Technology, Communication, and Electronics Industries" (Greenleaf Publishing, 2002) and is currently working on two edited books, "Towards a New Theory and Practice of Global Sustainability Politics", and "Ecological Modernization & Asia-Pacific."

His writings on a wide range of global energy, environmental, and business issues have appeared in journals such as the International Studies Review, Washington Quarterly, Energy Policy, Corporate Environmental Strategy, as well as in newspapers and magazines such as Fortune, International Herald Tribune, Washington Post, MSNBC.COM, Toronto Globe and Mail, Christian Science Monitor, Far Eastern Economic Review, Nikkei Weekly, and the Asian Wall Street Journal.

His research & writing activities have been supported by grants, scholarships, and financial support from the Salzburg Seminar, German Marshall Fund, American Council on Germany, Starr Foundation, Japan Foundation's Center for Global Partnership, Vermont Community Foundation, Environmental Leadership Program, Society of Environmental Journalists, and others.

A former New York City-based financial journalist, including two years at Fortune Magazine, he worked in Tokyo, Japan for four years, initially as a policy advisor/analyst in the Global Environmental Affairs Office of Japan's Ministry of Economy, Trade and Industry and later as an environmental and urban development specialist for the United Nations University/Institute of Advanced Studies.
